STARTLING TESTIMONY DISCLOSES MURDER

SANTA ANNA, Calif., May 12.—Following the testimony of his mother-in-law and several neighbors at a coroners inquest today Frank E. Skelly, a contractor and lumberman, was arrested today pending an investigation of the allegation that he murdered his wife, who died last night, of complications of the pregnancy, was supposed to have died of burns received Friday in the explosion of a gasoline stove.

According to the testimony of the mother-in-law Mrs. T. J. Lewis, there was no stove explosion, but Skelly threw a quart of gasoline over his wife and then applied a match. Mrs. Lewis swore that her testimony was based on a statement that her daughter had made as she lay dying last Sunday in a hospital here.

She declared her daughter begged her to keep it a secret for the sake of the children.

Neighbors who testified this afternoon, asserted they saw Mrs. Skelly rush out into the yard of her home when her clothing ablaze and crying, "why did you do it, Frank? You have murdered me, why didn't you use a pistol instead of gasoline?"

"My daughter told me," said Mrs. Lewis, "that her husband had threatened her Thursday night in the kitchen with a can of gasoline. When she asked what he was going to do with it, he replied, 'I am going to kill you.'"

"With that, she said, 'he throw the gasoline upon her and applied a lighted match.'"

Skelly assisted the neighbors who testified against him to extinguish the flames. He admitted today that his wife had asked "why did you do it, Frank?" but maintains that she was burned in a stove explosion. He is in a hospital being treated for burns received in the fire that brought death to his wife.

DENVER, May 12.—August Rische, who discovered the "Little Pittsburgh" mine that started the Leadville boom and laid the foundation of the fortunes on a score of millions, died of pneumonia at his home here today, aged 76 years. Rische accumulated $500,000 in his mining ventures, ran through his fortune, and for several years prior to his death had been employed as a switchman at the state capital.

SEN. KUCHLER SEES DRY FARMS

Senator Kuchler has returned from his trip to Juab and Sanpete counties with other members of a committee appointed by the state senate to determine the boundary line between the two counties.

He states that the question was thoroughly considered and the disputed ground visited. The dispute, Senator Kuchler says, seems to have come about through the changing of the road leading from Salt Creek east to Nephi to Gunnison on the Sevier river, the same traversing the summit of the low range of mountains and being known as the "Gunnison road."

It appears that the "Gunnison road" in earlier times, was made the dividing line between Juab and Sanpete counties, but that in later years the "road" has been changed, and the question now is whether the "road" of yore is the dividing line, or whether it is the "road" of today that forms the line of demarcation. All the evidence was taken up by the committee and, before the meeting of the next state legislature, a report will be prepared for presentation to that body.

Mr. Kuchler states that while in Juab county he visited the dry farming district, between Nephi and Juab, and that he was surprised to see such a vast area of dry land planted to wheat. He says it looks to him to be the largest dry farming country he has ever seen and the success of the project is assured.

The thing most needed there is artesian water, and to obtain this for the people the state is now driving an experimental well. The well has been sunk to a depth of 600 feet, at which point water has been struck in sufficient quantities to furnish considerable water by using a pump, but the well will be sunk to a much greater depth, with the hope of getting a flow. The well is situated about six miles south of Nephi and within two miles of the state experimental farm.

KENSINGTON.

Mrs. M. S. Browning and her daughter, Mrs. J. F. Ellis, entertained at a Kensington yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Browning. The spacious parlors were beautifully decorated, large yellow pumpkin blossoms, snowballs and white carnations making an effective combination. White flowers were prettily arranged in the library and in the dining room an artistic profusion of red carnations, the draping of the chandelier and effective arrangement of red shaded candles enhanced the rich color scheme. Teatime refreshments were served and a delightful afternoon was spent.

Among the seventy-five guests bidden were: Mesdames E. Byler, Joseph Howell, W. J. Browning, Alice Farnsworth, M. Nibley, Misses Rea and Miller, Nibley of Salt Lake and Mrs. D. C. Budge and Mrs. Arthur Budge of Logan.

FOOD FOR MEMORY

The Kind That Builds Up the Brain.

It is hard to believe that certain kinds of food will strengthen the memory, and yet, upon the condition of the brain depends the character of the soul. The memory is the seat of the intellect and it is in various ways, and a healthy brain can only be maintained by well selected food.

Now we know that daily use of the brain uses up certain parts that are thrown out through the pores to the surface of the body. This waste is natural and must be made up from food.

Grape-Nuts food was made especially to rebuild the brain and nerve centers. An experience in Chicago will illustrate:

"I had a terrible siege of gastritis; my stomach refused everything in the way of food until I got hold of Grape-Nuts. It was perfectly wonderful and marvelous to see the difference—I began to improve at once."

"I weighed myself about that time and found that I had 118 pounds to my credit. I gained in weight, strength and health steadily and rapidly, and now weigh 160 pounds and am strong and in better health than ever in my life."

"I have lately had a seven months' course of instruction in vocal music, and have memorized 58 songs and most of the accompaniments besides several piano pieces. When I started in it seemed difficult to memorize one, but my memory has been growing better every day and I now find it easy to commit to memory without difficulty."

"I have taken no medicine, but my steady diet of Grape-Nuts food has given me strength, health and memory."

FATHER SAYS SON WAS VICE CRAZY

SEATTLE, Wash., May 12.—Wallace Russell, 23 years of age, sought to take the Seattle vice crusade into his own hands early this morning by walking into the home of Carlo Salomon, a gambler, and shooting the proprietor, Joseph Bonner, to death with a rifle. Russell is the son of C. B. Russell, one of the richest men in Seattle.

The young man's action was the culmination of an anti-vice campaign, in which Russell took an active part, and which is believed to have impaired his reason. He walked into the saloon and without warning opened fire on Bonner, who stood at the end of the bar. Bonner emptied his revolver without effect and Russell was captured by a policeman as he ran from the place, slightly wounded by a shot from the policeman's revolver.

Russell's father said he would clear the young man of responsibility for his act. Mr. Russell said:

"For some time my son's mind has dwelt on the vice and crime to be found in cities, and he has read every scrap of fiction furnished by the magazines. He is a very intelligent young man with a secret society whose purpose is to rid Seattle of vice. He has paid hundreds of dollars to this society and has promised thousands more."

He has been very bitter toward the present city administration. "I have no doubt that it was this mania against vice that sent him down to that place last night and into all this trouble. He took it upon himself to raid a supposed gambling resort, single-handed, and was beside himself when he started shooting."

"Wallace came home last night and his mother heard him go down stairs at 2 o'clock. She did not hear him leave the house and supposed that he had returned to bed. It was at that time he took the rifle and cartridge belt and set out on his mission."

SPEEDY DESTROYER LAUNCHED BY U. S.

QUINCY, Mass., May 12.—That grim sea fighter, Commodore Andrew Sterrett, would have swept the Mediterranean of Barbary pirates if he had had under his feet so speedy, yet so frail a craft as the torpedo boat destroyer which was given his name as she plunged down the launching ways today.

Bpt Commodore Sterrett died 107 years ago, in the days of the wooden frigates and the muzzle loaders, and the navy department had difficulty in finding a direct descendant to smash the wine bottle and christen the boat with his name. This honor was given to Miss Dorothy Rosalie Gibbons of Baltimore.

When the Sterrett receives her equipment and takes on board a dozen or so of those long brass tubes, it is a question of naval science whether she can deal a fatal blow to so formidable a fighter as the battleship Florida, which made her maiden plunge today.

The Sterrett is expected to make 29 1/2 knots an hour.

The launching of the Sterrett at the yards of the Fore River Shipbuilding company and was accompanied by the usual formalities.

MAGAZINE EXPLODES INJURING RESIDENTS

LOGANSPOUT, Ind., May 12.—Three hundred pounds of powder, stored in the magazine of the Casper Store company at Kenneth Ind., seven miles west of here, exploded tonight, injuring about 20 residents of the town.

John E. Leroy, in charge of the magazine, cannot be found, and is believed to have been killed by the explosion. In the town were badly damaged and the explosion could be felt for miles in every direction.

SETTLERS LOSE ALL IN FOREST FIRE

ST. PAUL, May 12.—Settlers in the vicinity of Grand Marais, who lost everything in forest fires except the clothes on their backs, began arriving in that village today, according to reports by wireless telegraph.

One group arrived early today after they had spent the night lying in the bed of a stream. Part of the time they were compelled to submerge themselves to keep the flames from burning the clothes from their bodies. In this party were five children who were so badly burned they are being cared for in a hospital in Grand Marais.

At Gooseberry river and along Beaver Bay the flames are eating their way fiercely through the woods. From Parke Bay to Tofta, and as far back as the eye can see, timber is on fire. From Gooseberry to Grand Marais fires burned at intervals.

Reports received early in the day from Northern Minnesota, Northern Wisconsin and Michigan indicated the fires were not burning as fiercely as yesterday, but later reports said the wind appeared to be rising.

CHICAGO, May 12.—May wheat closed with a net advance of 1 1/2 and the deferred futures with 3-4-4-1. Conservative grain men on both sides of the Canadian boundary were quoted as declaring there had as yet been no frost injury worth mentioning due to spring wheat.

Reports, especially early in the morning, indicated strong and many of the largest sellers of wheat yesterday were the buyers today.

CLERK PREPARED RESUME FOR TAFT

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The surprise today in the Ballinger-Pinchot inquiry was the reading by Secretary Ballinger of a letter addressed by Attorney General Wickersham to a house committee, in which he made the admission that he anticipated the summary of the Glavis report, which he prepared for the president. Mr. Wickersham says he had discussed the matter with the president and had supplied him with a mass of information bearing on the subject, but the summary "necessarily" was made up afterward, and properly bore the date upon which the matter it contained was presented to and considered by the president.

Coincidence with the making public of this letter, a reply was received from Oscar Lawlor, assistant to the attorney general for the interior department, also concerned in the preparation of the letter of September 13, 1909, exonerating Ballinger and dismissing Glavis, stating he had kept no copy of his memorandum. Mr. Lawlor says he prepared a resume at the request of the president and delivered it to the attorney general.

In compliance with a renewed request by Attorney Brandeis, counsel for Glavis, the committee again called on the attorney general for this memorandum. Glavis' counsel is trying to prove that Lawlor, practically an employee of the interior department, really "tried" the case for the president, and the attorney general, subsequent to the promulgation of the "verdict," prepared a summary in an effort to justify the president's action.

The cross-examination of Secretary Ballinger was almost concluded. Attorney Pepper, counsel for Mr. Pinchot, will question him for a short time tomorrow on the subject of the withdrawal of water power sites. In all probability Mr. Ballinger will be excused from the stand at the end of the morning session.

H. Starnes, chief of the field division of the general land office, will follow Mr. Ballinger on the stand. He is one of the "defense's" two important witnesses remaining.

HIGH JUMPER BEATS STAGE STRUCK GIRL

SALT LAKE, May 12.—Because he believed Margaret Canada, his vaudeville partner, had trifled with his affections, Louis Guertin, said to be the champion high jumper of the world, assaulted the girl and beat her on the face and shoulder in the hall on the third floor of the Wilson hotel about 11:30 o'clock last night, as Miss Canada was waiting for the elevator.

Guertin, hearing the girl cry out, rushed from her room into the hall, half-dressed. A bell boy, evidently believing that a murder was being committed, telephoned to the police that "Everybody is being killed."

Guertin was arrested by Motorcycle Policeman Dan Grundvig and Patrolman Hinton and was locked up in the city jail on a charge of assault and battery.

Miss Canada went into hysterics as the officers were leading Guertin away. She was attended by a physician.

What Girl Says.

Wrapped in a dainty little blue kimono, Margaret Canada took times between mouthfuls of breakfast, catch from a tray on her bed to tell her side of the story in her room at the Wilson hotel.

"I joined Mr. Guertin in Norfolk, Va., about seven months ago. He was showing at the Colonial theater. I met him one night after a bunch of us girls had been to the show. We were all standing outside of the theater, chewing gum (please forgive me for that), when a big policeman came along and told us he would put us in jail if we didn't throw the gum away. We all threw our gum on the sidewalk and looked at one another and laughed."

"I guess he liked me, because later on he offered me a chance to go with him in his act. I wanted to go on the stage, so I ran away from home."

"My mother lives in Norfolk, and after I had been on the road a few days I wrote to her and told her what I was doing."

"I went with Mr. Guertin for the money, which I wanted to earn. I never did care anything for him, although he has told me many times that he thought the world of me. I never saw him again with him nor with any other man. All he has ever done for me is to pay me my wages. Oh, yes, he did give me a couple of little diamond rings on my birthday, but he tore them off my fingers last night."

"Guertin is a married man and has a daughter 10 years old. He has threatened to kill me several times on this trip. Last night about 11:30 I decided to get a bite to eat and I started for the elevator to go down to the cafe. I walked out of my room, and some man, I never had seen him before, came along the hall. I guess Guertin thought we had a date, because he rushed up to the man and struck him in the back and then pitched into me. I don't know what would have happened to me if several men hadn't come along and held Guertin until the police arrived."

"I'm just a kid, and will be only 18 years old next birthday, and I can't see how he could have been so mean. I want to say right here that I am as good as any woman that ever walked, no matter what Guertin or any other person says about me."

"But no matter what a woman may be I don't think a man has any right to strike her. I will never appear on the stage with Guertin again, if I can help it."

What the Man Says.

Guertin, who is alleged to have beaten the girl, came to the bars of the corridor of the city jail smiling.

"Well," he said, "I struck Margaret and the man who was with her because I was mad with jealousy and the girl was making a fool out of me, as she had done all along the line."

"I am in love with her and she knows it. I have told her so. I am married, but I have never gotten a divorce. It enraged me every time."

I saw her with another man, and I have seen her out with other men often. She has not been square with me.

"That girl came to me without a cent. I have paid her wages and expenses and went about last winter without an overcoat so that she might have a swell clothes. She is not worth $5 a week to me as far as her part in the act goes, but I like her, I tell you, and I want her to have the best of everything. I always had her stay at the best hotels wherever we stopped. My pay for the kindnesses I have shown her, at least tried to show her, has been nothing but repeated snubs."

"I have thought for a long time that she has been trifling with other men, and last night I made up my mind to find out what was going on. I went into the toilet room, where I could look through the keyhole in the door and watch her room. I had not been looking long when a man came up the hall. He stopped near her door and looked up and down the hall. Then she came out of the room and they started off together. I tried to contain myself, but something urged me on."

"My head swam as I rushed into the hall. I tried hard not to do anything that I would be sorry for, but my temper got the best of me and I struck the man first and then slapped the girl in the face. Then the police came and I was carted over here and locked up."

"I guess a man will do most anything when he is in love with a woman."

"I can't tell you how miserable I feel this morning. Think of it! I have worked at my profession for ten years trying to make a good name for myself. Now I have knocked everything in the head in less time than it takes to tell it. I can only hope that things can be satisfactorily adjusted all around."

BIG BATTLESHIPS GLIDES OFF WAYS

WASHINGTON, May 12.—When the big battleship Florida glided off the ways at the New York navy yard today it was more than half finished. The monthly statement issued by the construction bureau shows that on May 1 it was advanced 63.4 toward completion.

Only three other battleships are now under construction for the navy, the Utah at Camden, which stands at 72 per cent, the Wyoming at Philadelphia, recorded at 19 per cent, and the Arkansas at Camden, rated at 24 per cent.

Fifteen torpedo boat destroyers are building.

DISASTROUS COAL MINE EXPLOSION

MANCHESTER, Eng., May 12.—One hundred and thirty-seven miners lost their lives today in an explosion in the Wellington coal mine at White Haven. Rescue parties succeeded in saving four men, but five have broken out in the workings, leaving practically no hope for those still entombed.

Throughout the day the rescue parties made considerable progress in the mine but their work was stopped tonight by the collapse of the roof.

A curious fact in that a colliery warning was published in many of the newspapers in the mining districts of the kingdom yesterday to the effect that unusually high barometric conditions made fire damp explosions probable and that all underground workers should be on the alert. The barometer reached its highest reading in the White Haven district.

King George tonight sent a message of sympathy to the owners of the colliery.

"BAD MISTAKE" SAYS CAPTAIN

ST. LOUIS, May 12.—Federal investigation of the sinking of the packet City of Saltillo in the Mississippi river at Glen Park, Mo., last night, with a loss of 12 lives, will begin as soon as the crew of the ill-fated vessel arrive here. Seven passengers and five of the crew were drowned by the tilting of the gang plank when it hit a tree.

That the loss of the lives was due to the mistake of ordering the passengers to hurry from the sinking boat when she was near the shore was the assertion of Captain Crane.

"It was a bad mistake," he said. "We caused the passengers to wait a minute before trying to cross the gang plank none would have been drowned."

"At the time the order was given, however, no human power could tell the boat was not going to roll over into the river and drown every soul on board. It is easy to look back and see what we might have done."

Testimony at the inquest showed
